

Build your troop cookie squad!

Looking for a cookie manager?

- Ask your troop parents.
- Ask a friend who loves Girl Scout cookies, has experience in Marketing, or who just loves working with girls!
- The cookie manager can be anyone interested in helping the girls become entrepreneurs and doesn't mind having cookies hanging around the house for a few months! 😊
- There might be a college student in your area looking for a great volunteer opportunity during their school semester.
- Also, consider asking 2 people to work together as Cookie Managers.

Remember:

- Be a good partner to your Troop Cookie Manager.
- Always show appreciation for the work your Troop Cookie Manager does for the troop each year.
- Make sure to nominate your Troop Cookie Manager for GSNETX Recognition!

Troop Parents are also part of the cookie squad!

- Enlist every parent to help at cookie booth sales.
- Make sure parents know how many packages the girls sell at the end and how much the troop made for profit.
- When planning how to celebrate a successful cookie sale, make sure to include parents for dates and ideas!
